

Dear all:

In 2016 the Cabin Crew Union Group was created joining different unions from cabin crew from different European bases from EasyJet, which included France, Italy, Netherlands and Portugal. And as from the 6th of April 2017, us SITCPLA representing Spain as well.

We believe that all Unions around the network should stand together in difficult times, that working all as one will give us higher chances to reach common goals and the improvement of everyone's working conditions, the closer we stand together the stronger we will all be.

As a result of being members of this global union group we've been advised by our Portuguese colleagues that they will be striking on the 27th 28th and 29th of May, due to the lack of agreement with management in order to improve their working conditions, being the worst all over the network. We as members of the Cabin Crew Union Group would like to support them and show them our solidarity in this challenging times, as it is something we might all have to face at some point during our careers.

We are aware that if rostered we cannot refuse, however, we would like to ask all of our Union member that, if offered, NOT to volunteer to work from any Portuguese base during these days.

Thank you everyone for your support on this matter.

Wishing you safe flights,

Your SITCPLA Union reps.
