CLA UPDATE

Since we last updated you, we have been working extremely hard with our lawyer and USO to give the company our final version for their review.

Our legal team have provided feedback on some articles that they had concerns about and believed the company's wording could potentially make our conditions worse. Of course we have challenged this to protect ourselves and are awaiting the company's response.

In this time, the company have cancelled 2 meetings with us, telling us that they need more time to review the document.

As we stand today, we are waiting the company's plan for the next meeting.
